ILASLA DIRECTORY

The selection of a design consultant is an extremely important task, one that should be fair as defensible and the outcome of a logical process that identifies the most qualified firm. Balancing quality and value in design services is especially important in view of the cost of a project over its life cycle, which is comprised of start-up, construction and maintenance.

The Firm Directory is intended to be an initial source of information on landscape architecture firms in Illinois. You should carefully consider the scope of your project and use this Directory to select several firms. Each firm should then be researched further as part of your selection process. You can request additional information and qualifications directly from the firms. After reviewing the firm's qualifications you may want to interview two to three firms to help determine the firm best suited for your project.

This Directory was produced as a service to the members of the American Society of Landscape Architects and the public by the Illinois Chapter-American Society of Landscape Architects - Public Service and External Affairs Committee. The firms described in this Directory supported its printing and distribution. Please note that all the information was provided by each of the firms and lack of information should not adversely impact a particular firm.

If your firm is interested in being added to the following list, please send an e-mail to info@il-asla.org for more information.
